PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Dear friends,

It is time to celebrate!

Not only did WFWP USA just complete a very successful launch of the Global Women's Peace Network on April 6 in Los Angeles, we heard our co-founder, Dr. Hak Ja Han Moon, deliver a powerful address on the same day (see related articles below). Then, only a few days later, on April 10, we also commemorated the 27th anniversary of this very unique women's organization...

AS I RISE: LAUNCHING OF THE GLOBAL WOMEN'S PEACE NETWORK ON THE WEST COAST

Women leaders of all ages and backgrounds from the West Coast and beyond gathered on April 6, 2019 in the City of Angels (Los Angeles) for a morning reception to launch the Global Women's Peace Network (GWPN) in the Pacific Rim Region. This morning gathering also served as a pre-event to a greater and more prominent convocation that took place in the afternoon, the Blessing America: Peace Starts With Me Rally, with Dr. Hak Ja Han Moon as the keynote speaker! Our WFWP co-founders, Dr. Moon and her late husband, Rev. Dr. Sun Myung Moon, had predicted many years ago that the West Coast of America is indeed where the Era of Women and Mothers would emerge and from where it would spread. And we did feel that something was about to happen that morning. It was in the air...

RECONNECT TO YOUR HEART: EMPOWERING SEMINAR IN WASHINGTON, DC

What kind of leaders are needed in the world today? At WFWP, we believe it's leaders of the heart—meaning leaders who live by and operate from core values, have a strong relationship with the Creator or a Higher Consciousness, and exemplify both feminine and masculine qualities of leadership.

What exactly does it take to be a leader of the heart? On a sunny afternoon on March 23, 2019, a group of 43 men and women gathered in Washington, D.C., for "Discover the Leader Within," part 1 of the Leadership of the Heart Seminar three-part series, focusing on spirituality and self-value. They discovered that leading from the heart truly starts from deep within ourselves and that it is a nonstop journey of healing, growth, and discovery...

Emcee Yulia Tarasova kicked things off with some fun icebreakers discussed at each table which included: "would you prefer to be 20 minutes early or 10 minutes late?" and "if you had to choose would it be a terrible short term memory or a terrible long term memory?" and finally sharing which woman had the most influence in each person's life. This was followed by an excellent lunch and a song in Japanese from a group of young female volunteers preparing the atmosphere for the main program...

WHAT I LEARNED AT THE UNITED NATIONS

The Beijing Platform for Action of 1995 set the first formal global goals for advancing women's rights. This platform covers 12 critical areas of concern: poverty, education and training, health, violence against women, armed conflict, economy, power and decision making, institutional mechanisms, human rights, media, environment, and the girl child. The United Nations Commission on the Status of Women, a functional commission of the Economic and Social Council established in 1946, brings together government, civil society, and the public to discuss how to transform the promises of the Platform for Action into concrete changes in individual countries.

I was very fortunate to attend the 63rd CSW conference and the UN NGO reception. The theme of discussion this year was to ensure that social protection, public services, and sustainable infrastructure meet the needs of young people and advance gender equality. I thought I would share a few things that changed my perceptions...
